Biography

Jasmine Pirak is a Business Development Executive at YA Group, driving growth across the forensic, accident reconstruction, fire investigation, wildland fire, and marine service lines. She works closely with subrogation and defense counsel, insurance carriers, and claims professionals to match complex matters with the right technical expertise, ensuring clients receive strategic, value-driven support at every stage.

Jasmine is known for her relationship-driven approach and results-oriented mindset. She excels at identifying opportunities, expanding client partnerships, and collaborating seamlessly with technical teams to deliver impactful solutions. She brings strategic business development experience paired with a background in fire science and a strong passion for fire and wildland fire investigation, giving her a unique perspective on complex loss and forensic matters.

Earlier in her career, Jasmine leveraged her technical training and communication skills to support clients navigating challenging cases, building a reputation for being approachable, engaged, and dedicated to helping partners succeed. She continues to enjoy building meaningful connections and serving as a resource for clients seeking guidance on upcoming opportunities or active investigations.
