Trust is about more than just experience. It's about a relationship. We bring more than outstanding expertise to our clients... our team is always on-call, on budget, and on point for every project. We founded YA's Government Grant Consulting because there was a need for a higher level of service in delivering resilience. We are honored by the trust of our clients and take it seriously. Every single member of our team is committed to a superior experience, whether you are planning for disaster prevention or recovering from it. Our team recognizes that results are paramount and why our clients engage us.

Federal grant funding can be complex and each source comes with its own controlling legislation, regulations, and tracking protocols. YA's grants management team has the expertise necessary to navigate application cycles, eligibility criteria, implementation methodologies, and post-award tracking of funds.
