BIOGRAPHY

Daniel Fister is a self-motivated and results-driven construction director with extensive experience in building construction consulting, project estimating, and operations management for high-quality residential, commercial, and industrial projects. With a strong background in inspection, restoration, and comprehensive project management, he has a proven ability to stabilize teams, optimize operations, and scale project execution from concept to turnkey delivery.

He is well-versed in construction industry standards and best practices, ensuring that all projects are completed on time, within budget, and to the highest quality. Daniel is highly proficient in using Xactimate software for accurate project estimating and excels at managing complex project scopes while ensuring compliance with safety and regulatory requirements.

Focused on seamless project delivery, Daniel brings a strategic approach to team leadership, operational efficiency, and client satisfaction. He is passionate about driving success in high-value residential and commercial developments, consistently exceeding expectations throughout every phase of construction.
